

Ten things your pastors want you to know.

1.) Pastoral ministry is difficult.

Some disturbing stats...

2.) Your prayers make a massive difference.

3.) Working from calling and conviction are at odds with working from people-pleasing and guilt.

4.) We each have a particular gift-mix. Adjust expectations and strategy accordingly.

5.) We can't read minds.

6.) We need (and greatly appreciate) your help.

7.) We are just as sensitive to unkind words as you are.

A culture of conversational kindness.

8.) We're sheep too.

We need grace just like you do.

9.) We love you.

Perhaps more than you know.

10.) We have no greater joy than to see you thrive in Jesus.

What your pastors want you to know

1. Pastoral ministry is difficult
2. Your prayers make a massive difference.
3. Working from calling and conviction are at odds with working from people-pleasing and guilt.
4. We each have a particular gift mix. Adjust expectations and strategy accordingly.
5. We can't read minds.
6. We need (and greatly appreciate) your help.
7. We are just as sensitive to unkind words as you are.
8. We're sheep too.
9. We love you.
10. We have no greater joy than to see you thrive in Jesus.